The CAPROCK

1966

North Toole County High School
Sunburst, Montana

Foreword

As the graduating class of 1966, we have shared many experiences in living and learning. With this CAPROCK we hope to impress upon other classes the worth of these experiences.

PEOPLE is the theme we have chosen, for to us there is nothing more important. You will find many pictured here. Each is an individual with his or her own special aspirations. Our hope is that all of these ambitions may be realized.

Board of Trustees

CHAIRMAN JAMES LEARY

As members of the Board of Trustees, we believe that the sound, responsible citizen is a result of the best school system possible. To that end we direct our energies.

James F. Leary

Chairman of the Board

This group, the Board of Trustees, is the direct voice of the people. They are the men behind the scenes who set policy and budget the funds. (From left--Mr. Pat Bucher, Mr. Lawrence Berthelote, Mr. Alvon Mochel, Mrs. Lillian Larson - clerk, Mr. Hazen Lawson - Supt., Mr. James Leary, Mr. Wally Iverson, Mr. Jay Johannsen, and Mr. Henry Alme. Mr. Joe Gottfried and Mr. Frank Taft (not pictured).

Superintendent's Message

SUPERINTENDENT HAZEN R. LAWSON

This year's annual is a pictorial review of events and people as they have participated in activities of their school life this past year. It represents a living history of every person involved. As the years go by, this annual will have increasing value to most of you, and will bring to mind many happy incidents of your school life. It is also an annual to be proud of from the standpoint of workmanship and design. It is a fitting memorial to the efforts of the Senior Class.

Sincerely,

Hazen Lawson

Principal's Message

PRINCIPAL PAUL R. SCHRAMMECK

To the Class of 1966, I extend my congratulations. You have had many accomplishments during your high school years. Many people are proud of you.

This yearbook theme of "People" is a particularly thought-provoking theme. Try to imagine with me, for a moment, what a high school educational experience would be without the people who surround you just now.

You would start school. You would receive about twenty-five basic textbooks. You would be assigned to learn most of the material in these books. It would be necessary for you to refer to hundreds of reference books to complete your studies, BUT, there would be no teacher, (and teachers are people) to guide your learning; no classmates to share the educational experience with you.

Perhaps you would be interested in the study of music. You would acquire an instrument and some music books; however, there would be no teacher to direct your learning; no people to accomplish the sound of music with you.

Suppose you liked athletics. You would receive the necessary athletic equipment, along with some instructions for its care and use. There would be, however, no coaches to assist you in gaining competence, no teammates with which to play the game, and no opposition against which you could put your skills to the challenge.

The people, both teachers and students, with which you have been associated these past years have been responsible for that part of your education which is vital, real, and meaningful. May the honest and worthwhile associations live long in your memories, and may you be quick to set aside those who would influence you to become less than your own best selves.

Sincerely,

Paul R. Schrammeck

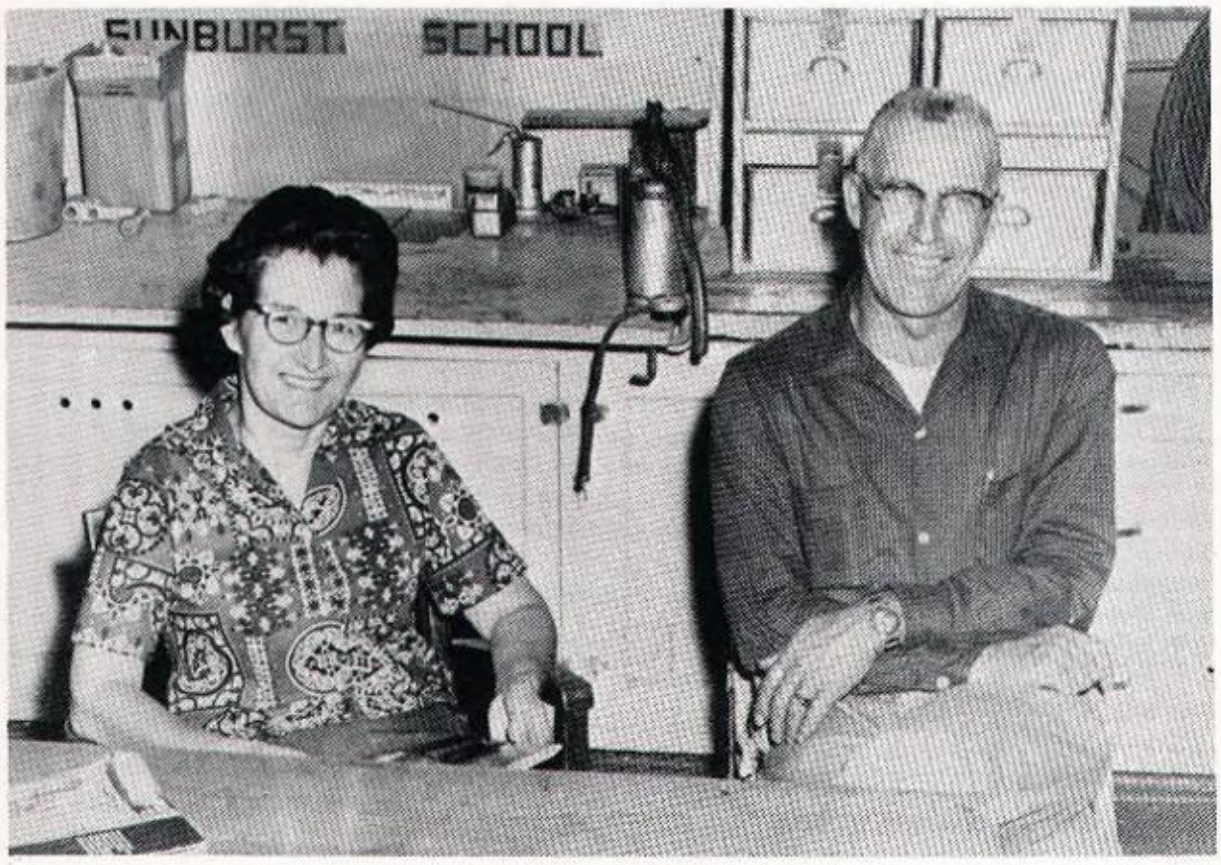
The Indispensables . . .

The only adult individuals who don't greet us each morning and noon with an impossible assignment or a test that is "more work for the teacher than it is for us."

Smiling faces, kind words, date bureau, problem solvers, hearty greetings, and friends to all--these are the The Indispensables!

The high school janitor must be a master of many trades, as Mr. Johnson (above) knows.

The three cooks--Mrs. Hoppes, Mrs. Whitt, and Mrs. Stroman--prepare and serve several hundred meals daily for both high school and grade school students. They are shown here in the modern kitchen adjoining the lunchroom.



Two people who can never be shown enough appreciation are Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Dunk (left), custodians of the grade school.

These bus drivers brave mud and snow to bring the students to school and to make the many extracurricular trips made throughout the year. Charles Kimmet also does the maintenance work in addition to driving a regular route. (From left- Ernest Cartwright, George Kimmet, Sterling Dorcas, Charles Kimmet, and Mary Richmond. Joe Matzdorf not pictured.)

Off Guard . . .

Mr. Schrammeck

"Of course, I'm principal of this school."

Mr. Mauritsen

"Smells like Limburger to me."

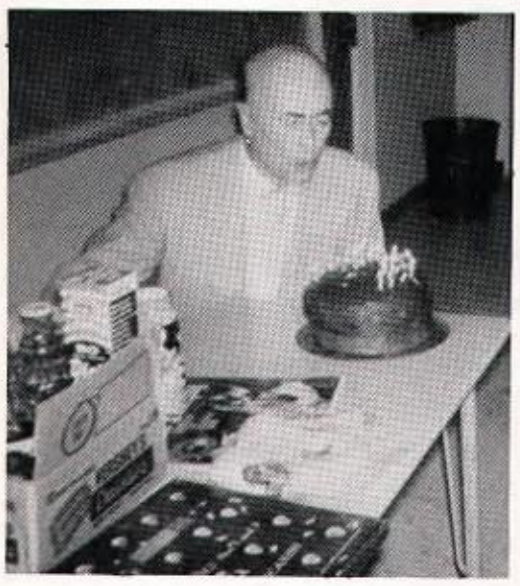
Mrs. Schrammeck

"Are you sure yesterday was Friday?"

Mr. Peck

"You should see me in my bikini!"

Mr. McAllister



Herzlichen Geburtstag, Herr McAllister!

Mr. Ouellette

"All I do is work, work, work!"

These are the service organizations which provide for much of the social life at N.T.C.H.S. They are also very instrumental in building the fine school spirit found at our school. The Pep Club and G.A.A. take their membership from all the girls of the school who wish to belong. The Lettermen's Club is composed of all boys who have earned a varsity letter in basketball, football, track, or wrestling.

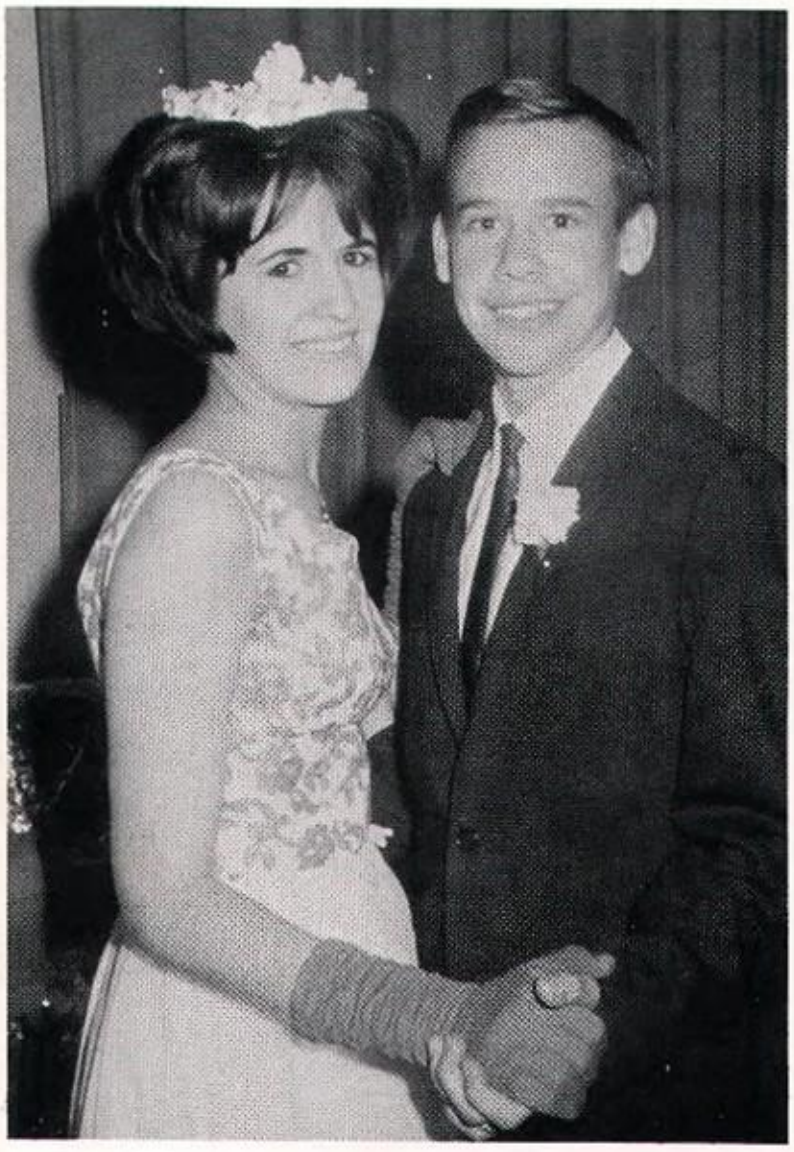
G.A.A.

The GAA is made up of girls in N.T.C.H.S. who wish to participate in athletics. It gives them a chance to improve in their physical fitness and enjoy themselves in competitive sports.

Homecoming



QUEEN UDEEN McLACHLAN and
KING BOB MALBERG

The annual Homecoming Dance was held October 16. Earlier in the day, the N.T.C.H.S. Refiners had played the Big Sandy Pioneers, easily defeating them 34-7. Feeling the elation that comes with victory, everone enjoyed an evening of dancing. Udeen McLachlan and Bob Malberg were chosen as king and queen to reign over the dance.

"Winter Wonderland" was the theme chosen for the Snowball Dance.

Snowball

The main winter event of the shcool year is the Snowball Dance. This year a queen and three princesses were chosen from a selection of eight girls instead of the usual king and queen. The dance was held after the Sunburst - Choteau game on December 11. The Christmas decorations and spirit added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

QUEEN VICKI MINNICH

The junior class play was presented November 19 and 20. An old house, two spinsters, two lively nieces, one handsome real estate agent, one long-lost love, one dizzy maid, and several suspicious characters add up to a play of comedy and suspense. The three-act play was directed by Mr. Mauritsen.

The "Blackboard Jungle" was presented by the senior class on March 25 and 26. It is the story of a young teacher who must prove he is stronger than his class of young hoodlums who come from the slums of New York City. It was directed by Mr. Haines. The pictures at the right were taken during one of the many rehearsals.

Rick Dadier (Brian Barrows) instructs his class of young hoodlums at Manual Trades High School.

Josh Edwards (Art Taft) looks at one of the records his students broke in his music appreciation class.
